

How to Buy a Case or Article

If you would like to purchase a case or article, you can do this through one of our distributors, McGraw-Hill Create (create.mcgraw-hill.com) or The Case Centre (www.thecasecentre.org). Pricing information is available at each site. Copyright law prohibits you from reproducing any cases without permission EXCEPT cases you have written.

McGraw-Hill Create offers the option of building your own custom print book or e-book, combining material from more than one source. To start the process, go to create.mcgraw-hill.com and enter a keyword in the search box on the right to locate the case you would like to find, and then proceed through the steps for creating your own custom publication.

The Case Centre allows you to purchase an individual case or article quickly and easily, in either print or electronic format. Go directly to a list of all cases published by The CASE Journal here:

<http://www.thecasecentre.org/educators/ordering/whatsavailable/collections/CASE>

